

ABSTRACT

The invention relates to the use of a modulator of at least one receptor chosen from the group comprising the IL-8RB receptor and the PAC-1 receptor for the preparation of a pharmaceutical composition for treating rosacea.